Transform the world through good business

The world's leading corporations are embracing Corporate Social Responsibility by adopting responsible practices. To create a sustainable and inclusive economy, businesses must look beyond profits and account for their social and environmental impacts. As the leaders of tomorrow, do you have what it takes to shape business into a force for good and redefine sustainable success?

Form a team of 3 to 6 participants and submit a business proposal to transform a large organisation into an exemplary sustainable corporation of global standards.
